Weekly Update

Can you believe that we only have three days left for the 2015-2016 school year? It has been an absolutely amazing school year and we have had a spectacular time in third grade. I have so enjoyed sharing this school year with your children and being able to watch their efforts pay off in progress. We have learned many new concepts throughout the year in reading, math, science, and social studies. This week we focused on reviewing each part of speech that we studied, including nouns, pronouns, verbs, adverbs, adjectives, articles, conjunctions, intersections, and prepositions. We also wrapped up our unit of study on money during math. Our social studies unit that focused on how the past has shaped our present also concluded this week. Three more days and each of you will have a fourth grade student on your hands!

Reading Homework Goals

Throughout this school year, students were instructed to read for at least 20 minutes each day as homework. There were monthly goals to reach for number of minutes read. Every student who met the monthly goal earned a certificate for a free personal pan pizza from Pizza Hut. At the beginning of the year, I agreed to buy a book for any student who had met every month's reading goal over the course of the entire school year. There are 17 students who have met their reading goal every month this year through the month of April. These students have picked out a book and it has been ordered! Upon reaching their reading goal for the month of May, they will receive the book of their choice! I am so proud of the students reading efforts this school year and I hope they are proud of themselves as well!
