Weekly Update

Thank you tremendously to those who came to help and partake in our fall party last week. We greatly appreciate all of the help! The treats, snacks, and items brought in for our class was wonderful and it would not have been a success without the many hands that provided for us during that time. Thank you!

Please note that with the new month comes a new reading goal. For the month of November, students are expected to read for at least 360 minutes. The students' homework is to read for a minimum of 20 minutes on each day that we have had school. Your child is absolutely welcome (and encouraged) to read beyond the 20 minutes and on non-school days as well. Students who meet the goal of 360 minutes will earn a gift certificate for a free personal pan pizza from Pizza Hut.

We began multiplication this week in math and we are so excited about it! Please ask your child to show you the many methods we learned for solving multiplication equations. We used equal groups, arrays, repeated addition, number lines, and skip counting to solve multiplication problems.
