Weekly Update

As a quick reminder, there will only be two days of school next week, on Monday and Tuesday. Wednesday through Friday will be our Thanksgiving break!

Third graders have been working hard over the last several weeks! During math block, we are deep into our multiplication unit. We learned about the different properties of multiplication this week, including the Identity, Zero, Commutative, Associative, and Distributive Properties of Multiplication. Ask your child if they can tell you about any of those and/or show you an example. We will begin to relate multiplication to the area of a rectangle or square next week.

We also squeezed in some exciting "extras" this week, including some writing on how to cook a turkey. These small pieces of writing are hopefully going to appear in the Pilot News, keep your eyes peeled for your child's ideas on how to cook a turkey!
