Weekly Update

Hopefully everyone enjoyed their week of Spring Break and has now settled back into the routine of school for the final eight weeks! It was so enjoyable to hear about the different activities and places that all of the students went to during their week off from school.

During reading this week, we studied main idea and supporting details, as well as analyzing and evaluating the text we read. We began a new unit in math this week that focuses on time and measurement. This unit will include the concepts of telling time, elapsed time, measuring length to the nearest half and fourth inch, mass, and volume.

Our science unit on plants has continued this week and we have found the lessons and activities to be both engaging and educational!

Note the new month's reading goal of 400 minutes!
