Weekly Update

We certainly have had some interesting weather lately which has definitely altered our school schedule since our one day return from winter break! None the less, we were able to get back to the routine of things after winter break and several snow days!

We continued the lesson from Unit 4 Week 3 this week and thus kept the same spelling words. We will move into the Unit 4 Week 4 lesson next week. Please remember that we have a new reading goal for the month of January, 340 minutes. We talked as a class, that this goal is set based on reading at least 20 minutes per school night, which does include snow days. Our math focus over the last two weeks has been on fractions, which is a brand new concept for us this year. Thus far we have focused on naming equal parts (halves, thirds, fourths, fifths, sixths, eighths, tenths, and twelfths), identifying fractions in a shape as well as identifying fractions of a set. We will continue studying fractions for several weeks!
