Weekly Update

Just a quick reminder that there will be no school on Thursday, October 23rd or Friday, October 24th! Enjoy your fall break! I also wanted to thank everyone that came to parent/teacher conferences with me this week, your time is very much appreciated! It is such a great benefit for your children to have that home to school connection between parents and teacher!

We have had a slightly hectic week during these three days! We got to enjoy a couple of "extras" this week, which included, the Lions Club passing our dictionaries for each student to have, and a visit to the second graders Star Lab! Amongst these fun "extras," we did a lot of learning this week as well. Reading block focused on main idea and details. We practiced identifying main idea and details through the stories we read throughout the week. During math block, we continued our work with division. This week was focused on mastering our methods for dividing with many different divisors. Divisors this week included, 0, 1, 6, 7, 8, and 9 (we practiced dividing by 2, 3, 4, and 5 last week). This is a skill that can easily be practiced at home, and even with manipulatives. For example, give your child a set of objects and ask them to divide that group of objects equally amongst a given number of people.
