Weekly Update

To begin the weekly update, I would like to give a big thank you to each student in our classroom because they received an excellent report from the substitute teacher that was in our classroom last Friday. This says a lot about not only the students themselves but their respect and responsibility that they are learning at home, so thank you!

Reading block this week has seen a focus on using text features to help us understand (comprehend) a story better. These text features included title page, charts, table of contents, index, hyperlinks, glossary, heading, graphs, and illustrations/photographs, as well as some others. Newspapers and magazines are a great way to practice using these text features with your child at home! We also began looking at using prefixes and suffixes with words and how either of those things can change the meaning (definition) of words.

Math block has been extra exciting because we began learning about multiplication. We are starting with the very basic concept of multiplication and will go from there. Practicing their facts at home is an EXCELLENT way to work on this skill!
